A collection of fabrics and wallpapers which evokes the English country house style is given a contemporary twist by internationally renowned fashion designer Matthew Williamson. It is named in honour of BELVOIR CASTLE in Leicestershire, the ancestral home of the Dukes of Rutland.

“I can just imagine my muse for the collection stepping out from a party at Belvoir Castle. It is a summer evening with a clear night sky.” Matthew Williamson

“I was struck with the porcelain on display at Belvoir Castle on my first visit. There was such a variety of styles which had been in the Rutland family for years.” MW

The British fashion designer Matthew Williamson presents DURBAR fabrics and wallpapers exclusively for Osborne & Little.

Images of India are conjured up with a vibrant, contemporary twist in signature colours including cerise, teal, turquoise and jade combined with calm tones of linen.

The designs include a fantastical pattern featuring exotic butterflies and mischievous monkeys, theatrical Indian vignettes, sumptuous damask of velvet appliqué and rolling stylised landscapes.

The NARISSA wallpaper featuring framed butterflies and artefacts is a particular highlight.
