KENSINGTON WALK

ZOFFANY

KENSINGTON WALK

Kensington, West London, an idyllic escape from the intensity of city life. Famed for its town and country existence, museums and cosmopolitan vibe.

Home to artists, looking for beauty and elegance, inspired by generations, capturing moments in time.

This season Zoffany introduces a snapshot of Kensington life, expressed as three unique stories: Eastern Palace, Paradise Row and Artist's House.

Authentic subjects and experiences are represented in a range of exquisite fabrics and wallcoverings, each produced using the finest materials, artisan techniques and modern processes.

With its richly pigmented and diverse palette, Zoffany's Alchemy of Colour features throughout Kensington Walk and the entire Zoffany portfolio.

The launch comprises 8 wallcoverings, 7 prints, 2 weaves and 1 embroidery.

EASTERN PALACE

Delicate and gentle, Eastern Palace represents the eclecticism of British design.

A refined mix of transatlantic styles combine in this cross continental journey, celebrating the glory of global travel and its transition into the luxurious interiors of Kensington's great homes.

Eastern Palace by Sam Wilde

The Japanese word fuubutsushi, marks the anticipation we feel for the changing seasons. It's the understanding that each precious moment in our lives is fleeting, and each of these changes will bring with them, a new season.

With a baccalaureate in natural history and a reverence for the cultural heritage of Japan, Sam's artwork chronologies the country's four main islands, sequentially represented by the four seasons.

Each island houses regional shinto shrines, temples and castles, beside which sits a rich tapestry of endemic seasonal flora and topiary. Lastly, beneath the islands lay sleeping giant kami, represented by the animals only found in Japan, the elusive giant catfish, giant salamander, samurai crab and stone turtle.

EASTERN PALACE

FLOATING MOUNTAINS

Based on an archive document and inspired by the drawings on an ancient hanging scroll, rolling waterfalls and towering mountains depict a classic Chinese scene.

Hand drawn using pen and watercolour, Floating Mountains is printed on a paper backed textile ground, heightening its authenticity and provenance. The Mineral colourway, with its ethereal look, is printed on a mica ground.

PARADISE ROW

An elegant story of greenery and gentry, hidden arts and royal parks. An oasis reaching out with tree lined arms, boulevards connecting boroughs.

Amongst the hustle and bustle of central London is Paradise Row, a place where botanical influences go hand in hand with a calmer more reflective pace of life.

PARADISE ROW

The glorious fabric takes its influences from botanical studies and unique flora gathered from around the world. Hand drawn in watercolour on fine 100% linen, the accurate palette showcases the beauty of this striking design.

TYNDALL

Evoking a feeling of summer memories, strolling along the treelined paths of Kensington Gardens, this atmospheric wallcovering is named after the effect of sunlight passing through a dense tree canopy. Available as a 3m panel (or 4m on special order) and printed on a mica ground, a subtle shimmer highlights layers of delicate leaves, creating a glorious ombre that contrasts between light and dark.

ARTIST'S HOUSE

Expansive windows let in perfect light, casting an ethereal beauty over these purpose-built residences. This is Holland Park Circle, a unique collection of art houses with studios at their heart, providing residents with a place to both live and work.

Representing their passionate owners, these grand homes were palatial, heavily invested in and filled with works from influential contributors, archives and treasures acquired from voyages to far off lands.

COPE'S TRAIL

Named after Holland House (formerly Cope Castle), this whimsical design takes its cue from the old orchards that surrounded this incredible Jacobean residence. Painted in watercolour on a fine 100% natural linen cloth, elements from exotic specimen trees and swaying grasses combine to create an elegant tree of life design.
